Since John Pickard established the company in 1982, Pickard Hardware has grown to be one of the countries leading distributors of specialised hardware products.

As well as the extensive warehousing space and offices our new building also features a trade counter and workshop for fabrication and general modification of our hardware as well as a test centre for trying out our range of Festool, Paslode and Fein power tools.

Pickard's have come along way since our humble beginnings in an old derelict mill near the town centre of Keighley in West Yorkshire. On the turn of the century we bought a piece of land and built a purpose made luxury warehouse situated on the A650, Keighley's link to the rest of the country.

At Pickard Hardware we strive to keep up to date with the trades ever changing needs and in the past have been pioneers in the distribution of many products which at the time had only been utilised in the PVCu market and on the continent. One of our main strengths is our ability to supply and simplify with a competent product knowledge, hardware which in the past has almost been unattainable and this along with our ever improving customer satisfaction record has led to national and in a few cases worldwide recognition as being the place to call for all your joinery needs.
